QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

INDIAN REFRESHMENT ROOMS AT RAILWAY STATIONS

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE asked —

I (a) Is the Government aware that both the East Indian and the Eastern Bengal Railway authorities put up to auction sale the right of selling Indian refreshments, which yield a fair revenue, paid by the Indian passengers, principally third class passengers?

(b) Is it the case that the aforesaid Railway authorities afford no facilities for the establishment of Indian refreshment rooms at the stations, whereas great facilities are afforded by them to the Managers of European refreshment rooms at the different stations, who are permitted free passes for their servants and goods and no rents are charged for the rooms occupied by them in the stations?

(c) Is the Government aware that not long ago the East Indian Railway authorities refused the application of some Hindus who had applied to be allowed to establish refreshment rooms for Hindus at the Railway stations, without giving any reasons for such refusal?

(d) Having regard to the fact that the bulk of the revenue from passenger traffic is contributed by Hindu and Muhammadan passengers, will the Government consider the propriety of recommending to the East Indian and the Eastern Bengal Railway authorities to favourably consider the proposal for the establishment of refreshment rooms for the convenience of Hindu and Muhammadan passengers at suitable railway stations, and subject to the same conditions which apply to European refreshment rooms?

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLEY replied —

“(a) Yes. It is the custom on the Eastern Bengal Railway. On the East Indian Railway, the auction system has been experimentally introduced at one station only, Rankipur.

“(b) The arrangements in force on the two lines referred to are not identical. On the Eastern Bengal Railway no rents are charged, and free passes for servants and goods are given. On the East Indian Railway neither of these concessions is allowed.

“(c) and (d) The suggestion made will be brought to the notice of the Railway administrations referred to. The Eastern Bengal Railway has at present under consideration a proposal to have refreshment stalls erected at changing stations. The East Indian Railway is now erecting such stalls. It is doubtful if the establishment of refreshment rooms would be so popular with the classes mainly concerned as the existing arrangements, under which the vendors of native refreshments have access to the platforms and sell to passengers in the railway carriages.”

INCOME TAX OFFICE IN CALCUTTA

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE said —

II (a) I have the honour to call attention to the charges of corruption made against some persons connected with the Income Tax office in Calcutta, and to ask if the Government has made enquiries about them? If so, will the Government be pleased to state the result of such enquiries and also the names of the officers by whom such enquiries were made?

(b) Is it the case that one Kasso Das presented a petition to the Board of Revenue, through his Solicitor, Babu Kali Nath Mitra, C. I. E., in which he repeated the charges of corruption made against the aforesaid persons?

(c) Is it the case that Mr. Oldham, late Member of the Board of Revenue, in a note upon this petition, observed — ‘It is understood that the traders concerned have given bribes?’

(d) Is it true that in this case the enquiry was made by the Officiating Collector, against whose Department the charge was made, and that all the enquiry that was made by this Officer consisted of his asking Kasso Das whether he paid any Income tax, and whether he had any house in Calcutta, and, on his answering in the negative, he was sent away without further enquiry?

(e) If so, will the Government be pleased to direct a fresh enquiry upon the petition by an independent officer?

The Hon'ble MR BAKER replied —

"A petition was received by Government last year purporting to be signed by one Radha Kissen Muralidhar, in which charges of corruption and blackmail were brought against persons connected with the Income Tax office, especially against one Ram Narain Julal, who is said to be an informer

"The allegations made were fully enquired into by the Officiating Collector of Income Tax, by the Commissioner of Presidency Division and by the Board, and the whole of the papers have been laid before Government. There is no such person as Radha Kissen Muralidhar, and the Lieutenant Governor is satisfied that the petition is the outcome of a mere personal intrigue. The reasons which have led the Lieutenant Governor to this conclusion are set forth in my letter No 1276 S R, dated the 19th February, 1901, of which a copy will be laid on the table

"As regards the petition of Kasso Das, it has been ascertained that the facts are substantially as stated in the question. No specific statements were made in this petition, which in other respects bears a strong resemblance to that of Radha Kissen Muralidhar and the two irregular notices attached to it were more than three years old. The Lieutenant Governor fully approves of Mr Oldham's action in refusing to promise immunity to the petitioner and his friends, or to hold a private and ex parte enquiry, and considers that no further action is called for."

THE PURI MUNICIPAL BOARD

The Hon'ble MR M S DAS asked —

I — Will the Government be pleased to furnish a statement showing the amount that the Puri Municipal Board have drawn from the Lodging house Fund in each of the last five years?

The Hon'ble MR BAKER said —

"I lay on the table the Statement asked for

URIYAS IN GOVERNMENT SERVICE

The Hon'ble MR M S DAS said —

II (a) I have the honour to draw the attention of Government to the following Resolution of the Government of Bengal (Appointment Department), dated the 6th March, 1901 —

"Ordered that the petitioners be informed that copies of the petition have been forwarded for consideration to the several departments concerned. The interests of the Uriyas are not overlooked and it is as open to them as to any other class or section of the community to compete in the public examinations and to take advantage of the opportunities offered by Government for employment and I beg to ask whether the several departments concerned have been requested to give sufficient notice by advertisements in the Uriya Gazette or local news papers, inviting candidates in cases where the appointment goes by selection and not by the result of competitive examination, especially where the head of the Department has his office in Calcutta?

(b) Were any additional hands in the inspecting and clerical staff employed in the Salt Department when that Department was re-transferred to the Bengal Government?

(c) If any additional hands were employed, will the Government be pleased to state the official designation and pay of each employé, as also his race, whether he is a native of Bengal or Orissa?

(For the purpose of this question Bengalees, who are settled residents of Orissa, may be reckoned as residents of Orissa.)

(d) If any additional hands were appointed, who made the appointments?

(e) Were they made by competitive examination or by nomination?

(f) What steps were taken to notify to the people of Orissa these vacancies and to give them opportunities to apply or compete for them?

The Hon'ble Mr BAKER replied —

"No. The suggestion to advertise was not made. The instructions to the Departments had been communicated to the petitioners.

"As regards the second part of the question, the clerical and subordinate inspecting staff of the Salt Department is appointed by the Commissioner of Excise and Salt, and Government has no information on the subject."

SETTLEMENTS IN ORISSA

The Hon'ble Mr M S DAS said —

III (a) The Local Government having assessed an enhanced revenue on the estates of Balirampore, Rugree and Chowsitpara in Orissa, the zamindars of these estates being desirous of petitioning to the Government of India against the decision of the Local Government, applied to the Commissioner of Orissa for copies of the opinions of the following officials who had expressed their opinion on the question of enhancing the revenue of those estates, viz, Mr E F Growse, the Collector of the district, Mr S L Maddox, the Settlement Officer of Orissa, Mr W C Macpherson, the Director of Land Records, Mr C R Marindin, the Commissioner of Orissa, and the Hon'ble Mr G Toynbee, of the Board of Revenue, but the Commissioner refused to give the copies, though it was brought to the notice of the Commissioner that the zamindars of these estates intended to place the opinions before the Government of India to enable the Supreme Government to do justice to them. This is substantially the zamindars' statement in their memorial to His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General in Council.

(b) Will the Government be pleased to direct the Local Officers having the custody of the records of the recent settlements in Orissa to furnish copies of papers which parties may require to bring to the notice of the Local or the Supreme Government their grievances? Is the Government aware of the fact that during and after the settlements of Orissa in 1839-40 every facility was given to obtain copies of the opinions of local officials, and the zamindars of the three estates named above were furnished with copies of the recommendations of the Commissioner and of the Hon'ble Board of Revenue not to enhance the revenue of their estates?

The Hon'ble Mr SLACKE replied —

"The Government has no information as to the action of the Commissioner of Orissa, but if he refused copies, he only acted in accordance with Rule 22, page 27, of the Board's Records Manual. The Lieutenant Governor, however, is quite willing, as a special case, to give the zamindars of the three Estates named in the question copy of any of the opinions mentioned for which they may apply."

PACIFIC OCEAN—THE ISLANDS

Caution—Extensive bank reported to the northward

The British Admiralty has given notice (No 306 of 1901) that the S.S. Manapouri on the 7th January last saw the bottom and obtained soundings of 13 fathoms over a distance of about 11 miles, in approximately lat 15° 55' S long 176° 00' W.

This is near the position of the shoal reported by Captain Wilson of the schooner Zephyr in 1875 who stated that in lat 15° 08' S, long 177° 10' W he saw an extensive shoal on which there was a rock awash (see Notice to Mariners No 58 of 1876).

In June 1876 H.M.S. Leart, when passing the reported position of the shoal obtained two soundings of 5½ fathoms at night. Sail was shortened and course altered but almost immediately afterwards no bottom could be obtained at 12 fathoms. The position given by H.M.S. Pearl was lat 16° 0' S, long 176° 6' W.

In 1879, Captain Carmichael of the schooner Jourdain reported obtaining soundings of from 15 to 17 fathoms in lat  $15^{\circ} 56' S$  long  $176^{\circ} 06' W$ .

The Zephyr shoal was searched for in 1885 by H. M. Surveying vessel Penguin, Commander A. Balfour and soundings of 11 fathoms were obtained in lat  $15^{\circ} 53' S$ , long  $176^{\circ} 16' W$  or near the position given by the S. S. Manapouri.

The shoaler water reported by H. M. S. Leont and by the schooner Zephyr was not found, although the weather was somewhat rough so that Commander Balfour was of the opinion that did such soundings exist the sea would have been breaking over the locality.

In consequence of the above reports, Marine is warned that much shoaler water may exist in this locality than is at present shown on the Charts.

RESOLUTION

JAILS

Darjeeling, the 13th June 1901

READ—

The Report on the Administration of the Jail Department for the year 1900

Read also—

The Reports for the years 1898 and 1899 and the Resolutions of Government recorded thereon

In 1897 the number of convicts admitted to the jails in the Province rose to an extraordinarily high figure, but the numbers returned to the ordinary average in the two succeeding years. In 1900, however, there has again been a most marked rise from 35,600 to 39,324—a figure which has only been exceeded during the decade in 1897. It does not of course fall within the province of the Jail Department to comment on the reasons for this increase, which must be looked for in the report on the police administration, but the increase has been most marked in the short term prisoners, especially those convicted for theft, and among the jails showing the greatest rise are those of the Chota Nagpur and Orissa Divisions, where alone during the past year scarcity has been felt. In spite, however, of the number of admissions of convicts falling in the years 1898 and 1899 to the average of the six years preceding 1897, the average jail population of convicts has during these years been considerably higher than in any year before 1897. In the year under review the average jail population of convicts alone has risen from 17,265 to 18,433 in 1897 the average population of convicts was 17,366, and as the number of admissions in the two following years was not greater than before the famine, the rise in the average population can only be due to an increase in the number of long sentences, that is, in the number of persons convicted for serious crimes. From a jail point of view the position deserves serious consideration. Including hospitals and observation cells, the jails of the province provide altogether accommodation for an average of 17,808 convicts. During the year the average convict population (excluding the sick) was 17,332. The margin is dangerously narrow, and even with the freest system of transfers, it is impossible to avoid serious overcrowding in some of the jails where the prisoners are chiefly short term convicts. The system of cubicles is being gradually introduced, and it is clear that, if the average population continues so high, it will be necessary to add considerably to the jail accommodation.

2. The statistics of the convicts disclose no very striking variations from the previous years. Roughly 2 per cent more were Hindus, and the proportion of Muhammadans decreased by the same amount. The number of illiterates remained constant at 89.97 per cent of the whole, but the percentage of the cultivating class was slightly lower at 85.99 per cent. The number of habitual convicts admitted during the year rose to 7,000. The number of juvenile prisoners rose from 107 to 171, of whom 43 were girls. As only 7 of these were sent to the depot for girl convicts at Bhagalpur, it is presumed that the rest were sentenced to terms shorter than three months. The very considerable rise in the number of juvenile offenders sent to jail is unsatisfactory, and it is hoped that it arises from merely temporary causes and does not mean that the courts are paying less attention to the more suitable methods provided by law for dealing with juvenile offenders. The number of cases in which solitary confinement formed part of the sentence has risen from 83 to 307, and this form of punishment has been more frequently used for the purposes of jail discipline.

3. The mortality in the jails almost throughout the Province was unusually high. The death rate rose from 23.4 to 40.3, and was higher than it had been since 1894. The report was silent as to the causes of this abnormal rise, but careful explanation was very plainly needed.

The Inspector General now represents rightly that the year was an unhealthy one. The provincial death rate was 36.63 as compared with 31.21 for 1899 and 26.57 for 1894. In nearly every district the death rate was greatly above the average. The price of food grains ruled high throughout the Province in consequence of the large exports to the famine-stricken districts of Western India. Except in Palamau and parts of Ranchi, there was no actual famine, but the high price of grain everywhere no doubt drove many of the poorer classes to crime. The statistics in Statement No. XVII show that the high death rate of last year was directly due to the poor condition in which so many of the prisoners were admitted. While the death rate among prisoners who had been less than six months in jail was 54.7 per thousand, it was only 36 per thousand among those between six months and a year in jail, 21.5 among those from one to two years, 22.4 among those from two to three years.

Another cause of the high mortality in the jails was the prevalence of cholera. The Inspector General reports that there were cases of this disease in 18 of the central and district jails and in several of the subsidiary jails, and there were 78 deaths. Out of a death rate of 47 per thousand among under-trial prisoners, no less than 9.9 was due to cholera, contracted in nearly every case either before arrival in jail, or while attending court. The death-rate from cholera among convicts was 4.2 per thousand, and if this disease were excluded, the death rate would be 3·4. In 1898 there were only 3 deaths from this disease and the same number in 1899. In nearly every instance the introduction of cholera was clearly traced to newly admitted prisoners or to under trial prisoners attending court. There was a severe epidemic of cerebro spinal fever at the Bhagalpur Central Jail, which resulted in 17 deaths. Too little is known about this disease at present to say what is its cause or how it can be guarded against. The large number of deaths from phthisis and pneumonia is attributed to overcrowding and defective ventilation caused by the unusual number of convicts, which kept most of the jails filled almost to the limit of their capacity.

The Inspector General of Jails also attributes part of the high death rate of the year to the absence of many of the most experienced Superintendents. Owing to the recall to military duty of so many officers, only 19 of the 48 jails of Bengal were under the charge of officers of the Indian Medical Service, the others were under the superintendence of Military Assistant Surgeons, native Assistant Surgeons, or medical men temporarily engaged, who, though they may be sufficiently careful in their treatment of the sick, are not equally attentive to all the little details of management on which to so great an extent the healthiness of a jail depends. This may be true, but other Provinces suffered from the same disadvantage.

Coming now to details, it appears that, of the 48 central and district jails in the Province, in 12 the death rate was below 20 per thousand, and in 16 below 30 per thousand. These 16 jails include 5 out of the 8 central jails, which habitually show much better results than district jails being on the whole much better constructed, and no doubt better managed, while as a rule only selected prisoners are sent to them.

In the following 11 jails the death rate exceeded 60 per thousand—Burdwan, Hooghly, Jalpaiguri, Rangpur, Mymensingh, Faridpur, Barisal, Chittagong, Chapra, Motihari and Daltonganj. In 4 of these, Hooghly, Chapra, Motihari and Daltonganj, there were severe epidemics of cholera. The other jails in the list are all situated in the most unhealthy districts in the Province, and ordinarily show death rates greatly above the provincial average. Four of these jails (Jalpaiguri, Mymensingh, Faridpur and Motihari) were selected as representative, and the table below shows the death rate of the corresponding districts and of the districts (and their jails) adjacent to each—

| NAME OF JAIL       | Death rate in jails |                     | Death rate in districts |                     |

The Inspector General has submitted a detailed explanation of the high mortality in the four jails as below —

Jalpaiguri Jail — There were six deaths—three due to malarial fever or its sequelæ, two to diarrhoea, and one to dysentery. The casualty roll shows that five of these prisoners were noted as being in bad health when admitted into jail and one in indifferent health, four were sent straight to hospital on admission, three of whom died within a month, and the fourth in little more than two months. But for these deaths the death rate would have been 27·9 instead of 83·8. With an average jail population of only 70, great variations in the death rate must be anticipated. The jail showed a low death rate for the previous quinquennium, in two years of which no death occurred. No fault is to be found with the jail itself, which is on the latest plan, it is supplied with a Pasteur Chamberland filter, and the prisoners are allowed a ration of meat four times a week. Dinajpur showed a lower death rate than the quinquennial average, but such variations cannot be satisfactorily explained.

Mymensingh Jail — There were 31 deaths. The principal causes were dysentery (11), pneumonia (6), and general debility (3). Of those who died, 6 were in good health on admission, 15 were admitted in indifferent health, and 10 in bad health. During the year temporary buildings had to be erected to provide accommodation for the prisoners in excess of the capacity of the permanent wards, it being impossible to find room in the Dacca or any other jail for the excess. There was no overcrowding in any of the wards, but too many buildings were and are still crowded within the enclosure. The new two storey barrack which has been sanctioned will, when completed, make it possible to clear away the temporary buildings. The quinquennial death rate in the Dacca Jail was only 15·8, the death rate in it has been very low for some years, only selected prisoners are sent to it, as in the case of other central jails, it has been built on the most recent plan, and above all it has been under the charge of one of the most experienced and careful medical officers of the Province.

Faridpur Jail — There were 29 deaths, 14 due to dysentery, 6 to pneumonia, and 3 to phthisis. This is a very badly constructed jail, the wards being on a bad plan and all crowded together. During the year it was under the charge of a temporarily engaged medical officer, inexperienced in jail management, and there was injudicious management in the allotment of labour and a want of care in bringing under treatment prisoners who were in poor condition. The death rate for the five previous years in the small Noakhali jail was 11·2, there having been no deaths in two of the years.

Motihari Jail — There were 27 deaths, 7 due to cholera, 6 to diarrhoea or dysentery, 5 to anaemia and general debility, and 4 to pneumonia. Of the 20 who died from diseases other than cholera, 8 were reported to be in good health on admission, 7 in indifferent health, and 5 in bad health. This is a well constructed jail, but the district adjoining the Terai is notoriously unhealthy.

6 Of the remaining eleven jails, Burdwan, Hooghly, and Cluttajong are, on the average of the previous five years, fairly healthy. Buxsal and Chapra steadily improved during the previous two years as the result of more sanitary construction. The jails on which the attention of the Inspector General must be carefully concentrated during the current year are Rangpur, Faridpur, Buxsal, Motihari and Daltonganj. The last, the only one which the Lieutenant Governor has not himself seen, is a discredit to the administration. It is a small jail, but the death rate is always the worst in the Province, and the Inspector General is requested to submit a special report on it with recommendations for its improvement.

7 The prisoners were employed as usual mainly on manufactures, and the number told off for duties which are not of an irksome kind is steadily reduced to a minimum. Although the number of convicts was very large, the high proportion of sick reduced the average number available for remunerative labour, and the cash earnings of the year were Rs 2,89,200, or Rs 16 per head of average number sentenced to labour, against Rs 4,55,932, or Rs 26·15 per head in 1899, when the cash profits were unduly swollen by the clearance of old stock owing to the demands for South Africa. Taking into account the stock and liabilities at the beginning and close of the year, the profit was Rs 4,85,633, or Rs 26 14 per head, as against Rs 4,98,683, or Rs 29 7 per head, in the previous year. As against this, the total cost of the jails, excluding public works charges, was Rs 15,75,727, or an average of Rs 7 14 5 per prisoner. The total public works charges amounted to Rs 98,762, which included the cost of building three new subsidiary jails. In several jails the repairs and construction works were carried out by jail labour, and, provided this is done under proper supervision, it is an economical and desirable method of employing prison labour.

8 During the year the scheme for improving the warder service by readjusting the grades and increasing the pay was sanctioned by the Government of India. It is hoped that the service will now be sufficiently attractive to facilitate recruitment and strengthen discipline.

9 There is one other matter on which the Lieutenant Governor would have been glad to see some remarks by the Inspector General. Three years ago the system of marks for good conduct was certainly not understood by the convicts in general. It was the exception to find a convict who knew how much remission of his punishment he had actually earned. It is now rare to find a convict who does not, and it should be at last possible to judge whether the system is in truth effective in the prevention of prison offences and worth the trouble it entails. The Lieutenant Governor cannot say that the evidence of the returns is very satisfactory. In 1896, on a prison population of 15,895, there were 35,548 prison offences, a ratio of 2 2 per prisoner, in 1900, on a prison population of 18,453, there were 41,576 prison offences, still a ratio of 2 2. The character of the prison offences seems to have been also unchanged for the better. In 1896 the major punishments were 9 per cent of the total, in 1900 they were 11 2 per cent. But these are figures for the grand total of the prisoners. The mark system is applied only to prisoners whose term exceeds a year. The figures have therefore been taken out for the eight central jails, where the system must apply to all the prisoners. In these eight jails the number of prisoners in 1896 was 8,464, the number of prison offences 18,892, the number of major punishments 2,654, the ratios 2 2 and 14 0, respectively. In 1900 the number of prisoners was 9,766, the number of offences 22,800, of major punishments 3,426, the ratios 2 3 and 15 0, respectively. The Inspector General has elsewhere expressed the opinion that the mark system does improve the discipline and behaviour of the convicts to whom it is applicable. The figures so far do not support the opinion, but they are not conclusive for a reason to be presently given. The Lieutenant Governor, however, desires that the matter will receive the special attention of the Inspector General in his next report. The reason why the figures are not conclusive is this. The returns show extraordinary differences in the number and character of the prison offences in the different central jails. In Dacca there are 43 offences for every 100 convicts, in Bhagalpur there are 323, in Dacca 8 are followed by major punishments, in Bhagalpur 60. It seems improbable that there should be such violent difference between the character of the convicts at Dacca and at Bhagalpur. But in Calcutta there are two central jails within a quarter of a mile of each other. In the Alipore Jail in 1900 there were 23 offences per hundred prisoners and 52 major punishments, in the Presidency Jail there were 57 offences and 38 major punishments. In 1896 it was exactly the other way. The Inspector General explains these remarkable discrepancies by the idiosyncrasies of Jail Superintendents. One man records every offence, however slight, another overlooks and omits the trifling ones. The Lieutenant Governor suggests that it is the function of the Inspector General to bring these idiosyncrasies somewhat closer to a common standard, and he must at the least, by the maintenance in individual jails of a single method, secure the record of some positive evidence which shall support or gainsay the divergent opinions on the merits of the mark system.

10 The Jail Report for the year is conspicuous for its shortness, but the Government of India never contemplated such compression that cardinal points in the administration of a department escape mention by the reporter.

Although the report is thus deficient, the Lieutenant Governor is glad to acknowledge the careful and excellent work done by Lieutenant Colonel Mann throughout the year.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE

RESOLUTION No 730T—M

Read also—

The Report for the year 1889 and the Resolution recorded upon it.

The convalescent side of the Eden Sanitarium at Darjeeling remained open from 11th March to 3rd November 1900, and the hospital portion throughout the year. The number of admissions fell from 428 to 384, a number lower than the lowest figures recorded during any of the past ten years. The decrease occurred among the patients admitted to the second and third classes, and is attributed to the reduction in the number of visitors to Darjeeling caused by the disaster of 1899. The admissions in other classes show an increase.

2 Of the 384 persons admitted during the year, 280 were patients and 104 relatives and friends, against 352 and 76, respectively, in the previous year. The daily average number of patients shows a decrease from 38.64 to 21.17, and the average length of time spent by each patient in the institution was much less than in the previous year. Debility and malarial fever were as usual the most common complaints, and accounted for 70 and 97 admissions, respectively. Four patients died against ten in 1899, while 15 left relieved and 261 completely cured. The total number of operations shows a slight reduction, viz., from 84 to 80, but all of them proved successful. Nine persons at different times occupied free beds against 12 in the previous year. As remarked last year, there is still plenty of room for public charity to supplement and extend this most useful form of help.

3 The total income of the institution amounted to Rs 27,799 against Rs 36,800 in 1899, thus showing a decrease of Rs 9,001, which is due to the reduction in the number of patients. The expenses, on the other hand, rose from Rs 34,398 to Rs 35,372, chiefly owing to the inclusion of Rs 4,709, cost of fittings and furniture of the Surgical Block lately purchased. The year closed with a balance of Rs 4,849. The average daily cost of diet per patient was the same as in the previous year, viz., Re 1.6.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS
TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF MAY 1901

Weather during May was not of a noticeably exceptional character, though the meteorological elements, and especially pressure underwent rather large and rapid oscillations at times. The air was comparatively still and no serious disturbance occurred, though the occurrence of such disturbances is not infrequent towards the end of the month. The only cyclonic storm over the Bay began about the end of the third week and was of the feeblest kind. After it entered the north of the Bay it became diffused and was followed by a general fall of pressure over the Province and Assam. Towards this low pressure area the moist winds from the Bay flowed freely for a few days and gave a fair amount of rain to the extreme east. About the end of the month the rainfall area extended westward and the showery weather became general over the Province.

The most important feature of the weather of the month was the continued absence of rainfall in the east particularly in Assam and East Bengal. Silchar and Dhubri received 6 and 8 inches respectively—in the former case considerably less than half the average and in the latter about half while in East Bengal there was an average defect of more than 4 inches. In the other divisions of the Province the fall for the month was between 1 and 2 inches in defect except in South West Bengal where very nearly the normal amount was received and in Bihar which was in slight excess.

Showery weather was fairly continuous throughout the month, with no well marked period of intense heat except in the western districts. In this respect conditions were not unlike those of last year in the same month and the quantity of rainfall was very similar even to the rather large 11 feet in East Bengal. But the comparison fails as regards Assam, in part of which the rainfall was as much in excess as in the present year it has been in defect.

The course usually followed by cyclonic storms in May when leaving the Bay is to the north or north-east so that the very slight disturbance of that kind during the month under review was not exceptional. But the fact of its breaking up before it reached the coast is a feature of some importance and the more important because a subsequent disturbance has behaved in a similar manner. It is not unusual for cyclonic disturbances, on which the development of monsoon conditions is largely dependent, to show similar peculiarities for months together and in consequence of this feature the progress of the early disturbances of the season give a fairly reliable indication of the character of the early part of the monsoon season, if not of the date of commencement. So far as can be gathered from what has occurred since the beginning of May the comparative absence of rainfall in Assam and the east in parts of Bengal will not continue much longer.

At the beginning of the month pressure and temperature both differed largely from the normal. The actually highest readings were reported from Assam and there was a large excess in Bengal proper as well as though to a smaller extent in other parts. Temperature was high over the north of the Province while in Orissa and the Circars probably owing to the north easterly wind set up by the high pressure in the north-east it was exceptionally cool. Scattered showers were falling in East and North Bengal and Orissa. Pressure fell on the following day and continued to do so till the 5th owing to the approach of a depression from the west. On the morning of the 5th the area of lowest pressure was in Orissa where there was defect of about 2 inch the fall during the previous 24 hours being 16 inch on the coast between Coorah and Dase Point. Winds were irregular in Orissa, but generally there was a cyclonic arrangement so that the prevailing direction was between west and north at all stations to the north of a line joining Gopalpur and Diamond Island. Though the depression was of considerable depth, there was less wind than usual on the coast of Orissa and the Circars, the highest velocity reported during those days being 19 miles an hour at Vizagapatam. On the 6th the depression was diffused over the east of the Bay.

Weather was less settled than usual in Bengal while the disturbance was approaching Orissa. Showers were frequent in the south western districts and continued with a brief interruption on the 11th until the 7th when pressure was beginning to recover. The pressure distribution remained abnormal for some days after the diffusion occurred. Readings were everywhere below the normal but by larger amounts in the north-east of the Province and Assam than in the west and south. The greatest defect on the 8th was 17 inch in North Bengal and the west of Assam, and in western districts where pressure was rising moderately, defect was 0.5 inch. It was not till the 12th that the distribution became normal, and then there was a rapid rise which began in North Bengal, and spreading southward and westward caused high pressure and a steep gradient over the Province and a very uniform distribution over the Bay.

Between the 7th and 12th rainfall was chiefly in the east, where some heavy falls occurred and temperature was several degrees above the normal in all parts of the Province. After the change of pressure on the 12th and the rather sudden change of winds from westerly to easterly, local disturbances again began, and rainfall was more general except in Bihar and Chota Nagpur. The unsettled conditions passed westward slowly, and by the 14th fairly general rain was falling in the western districts. A fall of temperature followed the rainfall westward and between the 13th and 16th mean temperature was normal or slightly below. Then on the 17th a rapid fall occurred in the north of the Province but the rather large defect had almost disappeared on the following day.

During these days at the end of the second week and beginning of the third when there was a steep pressure gradient over the Province and the adjacent part of the Bay, and an exceptionally uniform distribution in the south and centre of the Bay, the strongest winds of the month were experienced in the north west angle while on the Burma Coast very calm weather prevailed. The highest velocity was 27 miles an hour for the three days, 15th to 17th, at Saugor Island.

After rather large pressure oscillations over the Province on the 18th and 19th accompanied by fairly general rainfall pressure began to fall in the south east of the Bay, and signs of the first cyclonic disturbance of the season began to appear. It was not till the 22nd that it assumed any definite shape, and there was then a diffused depression over the south of the Bay with indraught towards it from both the Madras and Burma coasts. It moved northwards during the three subsequent days but as it approached the north of the Bay, it became diffused and practically ceased to exist as a cyclonic disturbance. There remained however a fairly steep pressure gradient over the Bay, and for the sea on a fairly strong air movement which caused weather of the south west monsoon type on the Burma coast as far north as Akyab.

While the depression was moving northwards over the east of the Bay winds over the Province became more easterly and in places north easterly. Rainfall as usual in such circumstances diminished and fewer showers fell during those days than at any other part of the month. After the depression became diffused the moist winds from the Bay penetrated inland towards Assam and on the 29th showery weather became general and falls were most heavy in the west of Bihar. It was owing to the general heavy fall on the 29th that the average rainfall in Bihar was compared with the normal heavier than in other divisions.

From the 27th to the 29th pressure was steadily rising at inland stations and the showery weather over the Province was due more to the steep gradient from east to west which enabled the moist air following the previous disturbance to pass westward than to a continuance of that disturbance. With the showery conditions temperature which was several degrees above the normal fell considerably and during the last few days comparatively cool weather became general over the Province.

Pressure was less settled than usual during the greater part of the month but in the absence of any large disturbance which would be likely to cause low readings of the barometer for a considerable length of time or any marked condition of the atmosphere over an extended area the oscillations were of short duration and generally about the normal for the time. Mean pressure for the month was therefore little different from the normal pressure of the month as a whole and was generally above. Excess was between 0.1 and 0.2 inch at most of the stations in Bengal Proper and Orissa and practically normal in Bihar and Chota Nagpur. There was a slightly steeper gradient than usual from west to east over the centre of the Bay, as the difference from the normal varied from excess of 0.3 inch in the Circars to defect of 0.2 inch in the south of Burma.

Temperature also underwent considerable oscillations about the normal, the changes being due chiefly to the occurrence of local thunderstorms with rain, except in the early part of the month when the low temperature was connected with more extended causes very cool weather for the season being at that time prevalent over a great part of the Indian peninsula. Maximum readings relatively to the normal were on the whole higher than minimum, as the former on an average for the month were in excess in the north of the Province by moderate amounts and normal or in slight excess in the south, while the latter was normal or in slight defect.

In Assam and East and North Bengal mean excess was between  $1^{\circ}$  and  $1^{\circ}5$ . In Bihar and Chota Nagpur it was about half a degree and in South West Bengal and Orissa rather less.

Rainfall was below the normal in all divisions except Bihar where there was a small excess. The deficiency increased towards the east or south east the greatest difference being 4.5 inches in East Bengal which received 5.7 instead of the normal fall of 10.2 inches. In North Bengal, Orissa and Chota Nagpur the average defect for the division was between 2 and 2.5 inches, and was comparatively greater in the two last.

Showers were as has already been stated of frequent occurrence in all parts of the Province except Bihar and the deficient rainfall for the month as a whole is due to the showers being in most cases lighter than usual. The number of rainy days though below the average in Bengal Proper and Chota Nagpur was practically normal, except in East Bengal where 8 occurred instead of 11 in ordinary years.

The following table gives full data for comparison of the actual and normal rainfall of the month of May for all districts of the province. The figures are derived from the average and actual rainfall of the rain reporting stations in each district due allowance being made for the area which each station represents. This gives a more accurate average than the arithmetical means given in the monthly tables. The first column gives the normal or average district rainfall as determined from the observations of the past 25 years. The second column gives the actual district rainfall as determined from the weighted actual rainfall of the month at the reporting stations in each district. The third column expresses the ratio of the actual district rainfall of the past month to the normal rainfall as a percentage. The fourth column gives the same information as the third in a slightly different form, stating as a percentage how much the district rainfall of the month varied in excess or defect from the normal —

The mean pressure of the seven days

The average pressure of the corresponding period for 24 years Surveyor General's Office

The total number of hours of bright sunshine

The maximum possible number of hours of sunshine

The mean temperature of the seven days

The average temperature of the corresponding period for 24 years, Surveyor General's Office

The extreme variation of temperature

The maximum temperature

The highest velocity of the wind in one hour

The mean relative humidity

The average relative humidity of the corresponding period for 24 years,
Surveyor General's Office

The total fall of rain from 9th to 15th June 1901

The total fall from 1st January to 15th June 1901

The average fall of the corresponding period for 24 years Surveyor General,
 (June)

The mean pressure temperature etc, are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newmans No 86, formerly at the Surveyor General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beck's anemograph

The mouth of the rain gauge is one foot above the ground

APPLICATION FOR ERECTION OF A MONUMENT

I — A person desiring to erect a monument should submit his application in the Form A (annexed) with a dimensioned drawing of the monument drawn to scale and a detailed estimate to the Chaplain or other officer in charge of the Cemetery

II—The Chaplain or other officer in charge will (unless the monument is a single stone monument as defined in the margin) send on the application with the drawing and estimates, with a forwarding letter (Form B annexed) to the Executive Engineer in charge of the cemetery. The Executive Engineer will fill in column 7 and examine and countersign the drawing and the estimate, and return the application, with the drawing and the estimate to the Chaplain.

The repair of fragile or costly work liable to receive damage cannot be undertaken by Government, and should not be taken into consideration in the estimate of column 7 (b).

III—On return of the application by the Executive Engineer the Chaplain will see that the application in Form A is correctly filled in, sign the memorandum at the foot of the form and forward it with the enclosures to the Archdeacon. If the deceased belonged to some other denomination than that of the Church of England the Chaplain shall obtain a certificate of approval of the design from the Minister of the denomination to which the deceased belonged, and forward it with the application to the Archdeacon.

IV—The Archdeacon will permit the monument to be erected or refuse to do so. If permission is given, the Chaplain will advise the applicant of the sanction in Form D (annexed), and instruct him to pay the amount of the endowment calculated as in Rule VI to the Executive Engineer who will grant the applicant a receipt in Form C (annexed).

V—The Chaplain must inform the Executive Engineer in Form D (annexed) as soon as the monument is ready for erection and the latter will see that it is set up in accordance with the drawing and the estimate sanctioned, and will enter the monument upon his list for repairs by the Public Works Department. The Chaplain will in communication with the Executive Engineer send in April every year to the Archdeacon a list of the monuments erected and endowed during the year ending March 31st together with the amounts of the endowment fee.

AMOUNT OF ENDOWMENT

VI—An endowment fee of Rs 10 will be charged when a person wishes to endow a single stone monument. The payment will not be compulsory.

Other monuments shall be divided into two classes—

- (1) plain and solid monuments, which are likely to require only occasional repair and
- (2) elaborate monuments and other monuments which are likely to require special attention or frequent repair.

An endowment fee of Rs 30 shall be charged for monuments of the first of these classes and of Rs 70 for monuments of the second class. The classification will rest with the Executive Engineer, but any person objecting to his decision may appeal to the Superintending Engineer. With the sanction of the Superintending Engineer, a higher fee may be charged in cases where fees on the classified scale are clearly insufficient.

—In the case of a monument of the first class the fee of Rs 30 shall be provided that the monument is not erected.

No addition to an existing monument in a Government cemetery will be allowed beyond more lettering on existing slabs, head stones, or crosses, unless the whole monument is endowed.

VII—The endowment is intended to cover the expense of ordinary annual maintenance, lettering and repairs, but not the risk of accidents due to floods or earthquakes or other extraordinary causes. It is open to any person to provide for extraordinary repairs by making a special endowment in addition to the ordinary endowment fixed by the Executive Superintending Engineer under Rule VI. This special endowment must, however, be limited to the amount necessary to cover such work as the Government officers can undertake to execute.

VIII—When an endowment is paid to the Executive Engineer, in accordance with Rules IV and VI the amount must be entered in the Divisional Cash book as a deposit received and paid into treasury with a Remittance Note in Form G (annexed), for credit to Civil Department. The Executive Engineer will forward the Treasury Officer's receipt with his monthly accounts to the Examiner of Accounts in support of the debit to Deposits, a note to the effect that this has been done being entered in red ink across the back of the Remittance Note.

The Examiner will from these receipts maintain a Register in Form H (annexed) showing the endowments for each cemetery in his Province. The Civil Account Officer will credit to a head Cemetery Endowment Fund under the major head Savings Bank Deposits—Bank Accounts all sums received on account of these endowments, but will show no details regarding the cemeteries

After the amount has been paid into the treasury the Executive Engineer will enter it in the Register of Endowments Form E (annexed) (Part I)

IX—The Executive Engineer shall maintain an account of all ordinary and special endowments in Form F (annexed) (Part II). A separate ledger account shall be opened in Form F (annexed) (Part III) for each monument, for which a special endowment exceeding Rs 25 has been made under Rule VII

Note—The provisions as to separate accounts should be applied to all endowments made after the 1st March 1901.

X—The interest calculated under Rule XI on the deposit shall be used in meeting the expenditure for the repair of those monuments for whose preservation deposits have been made. In no circumstances should the capital sum be applied to meet such expenditure, nor should the interest be separate for each monument. The interest accruing on the deposits shall form a common fund to be used exclusively for the repairs of all endowed tombs, provided that the interest on deposits for which separate accounts are opened under Rule IX shall be used exclusively for the particular monument on account of which the deposit is made.

If a monument becomes so damaged as not to admit of repair the Chaplain shall communicate with the friends of the deceased on whom such communication is not possible advertise three times in the Gazette of India and the Gazette of the Province, and if no person will undertake to restore it, the monument shall be treated at the next repairs in such manner as the Chaplain may decide to be necessary for the maintenance of the Cemetery in decent order, provided always that any inscribed slab or tablet which formed part of it shall be placed over the grave in simple masonry or be inserted in the wall of the Cemetery and shall be carefully preserved.

XI—Joint estimates shall be framed in October of each year by the Executive Engineer and the Chaplain or other officer in charge of the Cemetery of the cost of repairs of endowed tombs, during the following financial year and the aggregate of the sums so estimated shall not exceed the estimated interest at  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent per annum on the capital sum deposited up to the 31st March preceding. The Executive Engineer should budget annually for the grant required, such grant would be entered in a lump sum under the head Civil Works without any distinction between ordinary and special endowments.

XII—The Civil Account Officer of each Province will in his final accounts for March debit to 14—Interest by credit to the Public Works Department the interest at  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent calculated on the amount standing at credit of the deposit head on 31st March. On receipt of the credit the Examiner of Public Works Accounts will distribute the amounts between the cemeteries of the Province, and advise the Executive Engineer concerned of the amounts so credited. On receipt of such intimation the Executive Engineer will credit the amount in his divisional accounts as Public Works revenue under the head Interest on Endowments for Repairs of Monuments, and then fill in the interest column in Form L (Part II).

ENDOWMENT OF EXISTING MONUMENTS

XIII—When application is made for the endowment of an existing monument, the above procedure should be followed as far as applicable. The application in Form A must be submitted to the Chaplain or other officer in charge and forwarded by him to the Executive Engineer. The latter besides framing an estimate of annual repairs, must estimate the cost of placing the monument upon a suitable foundation if he is satisfied that such a foundation does not exist. The application should be sent to the Archdeacon and with his consent the monument will be brought on to the books of the Public Works Department. The cost of the foundation should be paid over to the Executive Engineer, who will carry out the work without delay.

XIV—In order that the Local Government or Administration may know that the tombs are kept in proper repair, an Annual Report in Form F (annexed) should be forwarded as soon as possible after the close of the accounts for a financial year by the Executive Engineer with report to their condition, for each cemetery, to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts who will consolidate the returns so received and render a general return to the Local Government or Administration. Caution—Extensive bank reported to the north eastward

The British Admiralty has given notice (No 306 of 1901) that the S S Manapouri on the 7th January last saw the bottom and obtained soundings of 13 fathoms over a distance of about 11 miles, in approximately lat 15° 55' S long 176° 50' W.

This is near the position of the shoal reported by Captain Wilson of the schooner Zephyr in 1876, who stated that in lat 15° 58' S, long 177° 10' W, he saw an extensive shoal on which there was a rock awash (see Notice to Mariners No 58 of 1876).

In June 1876 H M S Pearl, when passing the reported position of the shoal obtained two soundings of 5½ fathoms at night. Sail was shortened and course altered, but almost immediately afterwards no bottom could be obtained at 12 fathoms. The position given by H M S Pearl was lat  $16^{\circ} 0' S$ , long  $176^{\circ} 6' W$ .

In 1879, Captain Carmichael of the schooner Louisanna reported obtaining soundings of from 15 to 17 fathoms in lat  $15^{\circ} 56' S$ , long  $176^{\circ} 56' W$ .

The Zephyr shoal was searched for in 1895 by H M Surveying vessel Penguin, Commander A. Balfour and soundings of 11 fathoms were obtained in lat  $15^{\circ} 53' S$ , long  $176^{\circ} 46' W$ , or near the position given by the S S Manapouri.

The shoaler water reported by H M S Pearl and by the schooner Zephyr was not found, although the weather was somewhat rough, so that Commander Balfour was of the opinion that did such soundings exist the sea would have been breaking over the locality.

In consequence of the above reports, Mariners are warned that much shoaler water may exist in this locality than is at present shown on the Charts.
